Senior Class History

by

KATHLEEN G. WALKER

September 1947

Dear Diary:

We're off! to another nine months of school. We've collected our books and pencils to start our first year in high school.

All thirty-eight of us made our presence known by participating in many of the school activities. The cheer-leading squad collected seven of us. The basketball team had four of our boys on the junior varsity group. The class was also well represented in Band, Chorus, Baton Club, and others.

September 1948

Hi!

How time flies! We are now the sassy sophomores.

This year we are again represented in the school activities. Four of our classmates belong to the basketball team. The F.H.A. and F.F.A. attracted many of us. Five are cheer leaders, nine were in the Band, and the Chorus boasts six tenth-graders.

One day we saw many rings being put on and taken off of different fingers. This was the day we were measured for class rings that are to be delivered at the beginning of our junior year.

With the assistance of Mr. Orlidge, we glided through another successful school term.

August 1949

Diary:

Time marches on! We are now the lively juniors. Late in September we received our gleaming class rings.

To begin our junior year the band only claimed six members, while the chorus increased to twelve. In basketball, Paul Reese helped to make up the "Varsity Five," while Richard Kimmel and William Landis were substitutes. Glenn Walker played with the Jay Vees. Doris Wilt and Kathleen G. Walker were varsity cheer leaders. Richard Williams was student manager for the basketball team. April 20-21 we presented a three-act comedy by Gene Neal entitled, "Lindy Lou." The play turned out to be a success.

One of the biggest events of the entire school year was the Junior-Senior Prom on May 13 at the White Star Hotel. We, the class of 1951, played host to the Class of 1950. Dick Johnson and his orchestra provided the music.

Mrs. E. Lowry, our advisor, helped us over our problems to another successful year.

August 1950

My Dearest Diary:

Success at last! Now we are the dignified seniors. In late August, everyone noticed the faces of the twenty-two smiling seniors.

This year Diane Duppstadt and Lee Walker were in the All-County Band. Lee was also in Central-Western Band. Diane Duppstadt and Janet Long were in the All-County Chorus. Paul Reese, Glenn Walker, and William Landis played varsity basketball. Richard Williams is again student manager, while Kathleen G. Walker and Doris Wilt are varsity cheer leaders. Diane Duppstadt represents our class in the student council. Betty Lou Knupp is our head majorette. This year the band has six senior members, and the chorus has nine.

Mr. John Miller was our advisor this year.

A Trip to the Future

by
DORIS WILT

As I sit here I am wondering what the future has in store for the Senior Class of 1951. I keep wondering until I can't stand it any longer. I must find out, but how? How? How? Wait! I've got an idea. I rush to the nearest invention office. I have my fingers crossed because what I want may not be here. Yes, there it is. A machine that will take you to the future. It can be set for any number of years, so I set it for ten years in the future. Here goes! Stand by!!!!

Nine Hundred and Sixty-one. I am in a large white kitchen in a school, the Home Ec. girls are awaiting the arrival of a woman to demonstrate the new dishwasher they've just purchased. The door opens and in walks the demonstrator, Anna Chonko.

As I travel through time, I am attracted to a great manufacturing company. A sign atop the building reads, "Pile's Burial Vault." Diane has settled down to make a home for her handsome husband Paul. I start to leave, but wait, what is this? Oh, yes, now I know. It's Diane's quadruplets. They are all girls.

The scene swiftly changes. I see a large ranch. I see a cloud of dust. I hear horses' hoofs. Two horses come to a stop in front of the house. It is Minnie and her husband. Minnie has finally realized her lifelong ambition to own and operate a horse ranch.

Oh! I see a woman at the door of a neat bungalow. It is Phyllis Foster. She bids her husband, Hilt Zerfoss, good-by as he leaves for work. A little later, Phyllis again comes to the door. This time she waves good-by to her three small children as they leave for school.

Now I'm rushed to a large group of women. As I get closer, I see it is Waves doing exercises. Well, of all things, look who is in the second row, the third one, Wilma Frazier. Wilma is one of the best women to get along with, so her commanding officer says.

We are in a large hospital. As I go down the corridor, I see a familiar face. She smiles and I recognize the smile as that of Dolores Friedline, who is now superintendent of nurses at Johns Hopkins.

I hear the beating of drums and see the flag flying in the breeze. It is Memorial Day in Washington, D. C., and a parade of Marines comes down the street. Their sergeant, Dick Kimmel, calls out orders to his well-trained men.

Again, I see a neat, little house. This time I see Betty Lou Knupp in the garden, weeding. Beside her, tramping down her nice green vegetables, is her six-year-old son. Calling from the house is a little girl. She is saying, "Mommy, Daddy is hungry." Daddy, of course, is Blaine Thompson.

Listen! Did I hear the roar of an airplane? Yep, up there it is. I mean it was. You've guessed it. It's a jet. But who was piloting it? The most famous pilot in the world, Bill Landis.

The machine shifts the view quickly. I see the office of one of the largest firms in the world. The secretary of the main office steps from the building. As I get closer I see it is Janet Long.

Well, well, look what appears before my eyes. A modeling school. Many beautiful girls are going to and fro. But one in particular attracts my attention. It is Elaine Martin. She is about to step into her husband's car. She has beautiful, long hair. Her husband is Paul Bisick.

This scene is strange. I see a large college. I hear cheering. A football team runs on the field, followed by their proud coach, Paul Reese. Paul and his team have won the national championship for three consecutive years. Paul's wife Joanne waves from the bleachers. Beside her are their eight children.

I see a farm. It is a large western ranch. The owner, driving along in a big roadster, is watching his crops being harvested. As he turns my way I see the face of Leroy Smith. His crops were very successful again this year.

There is a small, neat restaurant. I recognize the waitress as Irma Snyder. She is also cook. A child enters. "Yes," Irma nods, "this is one of my three cherubs." Her husband is the cashier for the establishment.

The scene becomes noisy. People are yelling. A television show is about to begin. The star is Fred Walker, who is the greatest comedian on radio and television. I've just been told that Fred doesn't have a script. His show is ad libbed.

I see a farm, a large farm. A woman is coming from the house. Two children are following her. Her husband is coming from the fields. He is Glenn Walker. His wife was Shirley Gibson.

The scene swiftly changes. I see a red brick house. A woman comes to the door to meet her husband coming home from work. Kathleen G. Walker waves to her "short" husband, Ralph Stutzman. Do my eyes deceive me or is that two boys and two girls standing in the doorway with Kate, yelling, "Daddy"? Kate nods, "Yes." They are hers.

Into view comes a neat, little bakery. The owner seems to be out but, wait, here she comes. Kathleen R. Walker feels real proud of her shop.

I am in a large ballroom. The band is about to play. The conductor steps forward. Yes, it's Lee Walker!

As I speed through time, I see a large city. My eyes catch the name of a person who is familiar, "Richard Williams—Architect and Designer." Dick has made a name for himself.

I come to a red, brick bungalow. A '61 Mercury is in the driveway and a Kaiser behind the Mercury. The family has gathered for Sunday dinner. The hostess is Doris Wilt, and I see her twin daughters. A baby cries. It is Doris' youngest child, a son. She is married to Ches Miller.

Now the time has come when I must return to 1951. I don't have time for anything else, so, good-by!

Richard Williams, Janet Long, Audrey Mowry, Lee Walker, Kathleen G. Walker, Phyllis Foster, Doris Wilt, William Landis, Minnie Duppstadt, Richard Kimmel, Paul Reese.

The Staff of the 1951 Chicahonian has tried to bring you a yearbook that you can treasure always. This is the first year of the Shanskville-Stonycreek Joint School Board. We have not been able to include all the things we wanted in this annual but we were limited in our plans by many things over which we have had no control.

The costs of engravings and printing have increased so tremendously we had to put special effort to secure extra advertisements to help pay for this issue, thus limiting our space for write-ups and pictures.

We have followed the theme of the Vikings of Scandanavia from whom the various school activities got their names. The sketches depict some scenes from the lives of the vaunted Norsemen, who were great warriors.

We wish to thank everyone who has patronized our yearbook and helped to make it a success.

Varsity Basketball

First Row—Harold Shockey, Tony Stull, Joe Wojnaroski, Verlyn Young, Robert Baltzer, Clair Musser, Herbert J. Wolfe.
Second Row—Glenn Walker, William Landis, Paul Reese, Charles Spangler, James Baughman.

Since basketball is our major sport, we put a lot of time and effort into it. This year we had a thrilling season in which we won nine games while losing 14. Nearly every game which we played wasn't decided until the final whistle. In our league games we defeated every school at least once execpt one, which was Forbes, winner in the section. We finished in fourth place this year. The boys always had the spirit which is required to win and we're proud to have them represent our school.

Robert Baltzer, a guard, was elected captain. Tom Stull was also a guard and played a big part. Paul Reese, a 5-foot 11-inch senior, played center position and was one of the main rebound men. Clair Musser, a short, slim, sophomore, was a forward whose deadly aim turned defeat into victory many times. Charles Spangler, our other forward (who was a good rebound player), is a junior. There were two other seniors who played a part. They were Glenn Walker and Bill Landis. The junior substitutes were Joe Wojnaroski and James Baughman. Verlyn Young, another sophomore, also was a substitute.

This year the team loses only one regular, Paul Reese. There are high hopes for a good team next year as the returning lettermen have had a good deal of experience. The high light of the season was when the Valiant Vik- journeyed to Berlin to return home with an upset victory over our traditional rival. One of the deciding factors was the spectacular foul shooting of our boys, who made seven out of seven fouls.

March 7 we entered the Somerset County Class B tournament, only to be eliminated in our first try by Meyersdale on the Somerset High School floor.

The junior varsity basketball team was amply supplied this year with future varsity material. The "Little Vikings" gave a good account of themselves in winning seven out of 21 games. The boys, who lacked only in height, consistently stole rebounds from taller opponents. Verlyn Young, a member of the starting J. V. "5," played in several varsity games.

Junior Class History

By

CLAIRE BOYD

All aboard!

Spirit of '52 passenger train is about to leave on its trip through the past junior year of 1950-51.

Everyone is aboard all thirty-nine of us with our advisor, Mrs. Emma Lou Lowry. Here is the president, Lois Duppstadt; vice-president, Tom Stull; secretary, Sara Cable; treasurer, Claire Boyd; junior representative and president of the student council, Daine Fulton, to guide us on our tour.

First we go back to September, 1950. Everyone has a big smile on his face and something shiny on one of his fingers. Oh, it's their class rings. Very pretty, too.

Here we are in Somerset, at Morocco's Skating Rink. Look at the happy people and—watch out! someone fell! Of course, this is the Junior Skating Party in October.

While we ride from October to April, when we have more memories, we have some entertainment to pass the time. Glenn with his cornet and the eight others with their instruments give us a bit of music from their band experiences. Jean Zeigler, Claire Boyd, and Glenn Walker were in District Band, and Margie Glessner, Jean Zeizler, Jackie Sorber, Sally Knepper, Glenn Walker, Claire Boyd, Joe Wojnaroski, and Charles Spangler were in All-County, while Jean Zeigler was in Western State Band.

They are tired of playing, so Sally sits down at the piano and picks out a few songs as they sing in chorus. The seventeen chorus members sing happily with Glenn Walker remembering All-State and District Chorus. Also Margie, Sally, Claire, Charles, Joe, and Glenn remembering All-County Chorus.

It's time to retire for the night, but the boys who played basketball, Bob Baltzer, Jim Baughman, Tom Stull, Charles Spangler, and Joe Wojnaroski, along with the student managers, Harold Shockey and Ray Rininger, and the timer, Dean Lyons, must talk over old times at the basketball games. What's this? Our cheer leader, Jean Zeigler, leads us in that peppy yell, "Let's Go, Team!"

Good night to all, but during the night the members of F.H.A., F.F.A., Viklet Staff, Chicahonian Staff, and National Honor Society have pleasant dreams of their successful year in the activities of their choice.

Wake up, everyone! It's April 20-21, and you know what that means. We presented our class play, "Everybody's Crazy," by Jay Tobias. The play was a success, thanks to all the people who helped us.

Here it is the month of May, when we treated the seniors to a prom. Remember all the fun. (!!!!)

Home again! This really was a successful year and let us hope our senior year will be just as successful.

Sophomore Class History

By

SHIRIEY GIBSON

This is the spirit of the class of 1953 taking you by the hand and leading you through the "Cavern of History."

Going through the first room ,we find the class officers seated around a table where they are discussing class activities. They are the president, Shirley Gibson; vice-president, Audra Frye; secretary, Dean Walker; treasurer, Shirley Zerfoss. The other thirty-two members are in groups, playing games and running about from room to room.

The four junior varsity cheer leaders are Lorraine Walker, Janet Miller, Mona Friedline, and Irma Schmucker. They are in a small alcove, trying out some new yells. The junior varsity basketball players, Roy Boyd, Clair Kimmel, Wayne Kiehl, and Verlyn Young, are working on some new plays. They are also getting some pointers from our varsity basketball player, Clair Musser.

In the next room, by a flickering candlelight, the Future Farmers of America and the Future Homemakers of America are having a meeting. They're planning to go to the Farm Show in Harrisburg.

Many of our class members spend a lot of time in the room we are about to enter. Our twelve band members are sitting on the ground floor with stalagmites for music stands. They are playing "Old Zip Coon," and the fourteen chorus members are singing. Roy Boyd and Edward Onstead, who were in Central-Western Chorus, sing a duet, accompanied by Shirley Gibson, who was in the Central-Western Band and All-County Band. The All-County chorus members are practicing, too.

We, the Clas sof 1951, Shanksville-Stonycreek High School, wish to thank the teachers who, down through the years, have helped us so that we could better face the world following graduation.

Our thanks also go to the patrons and the advertisers of our thirteenth annual yearbook. We wish to especially express our gratitude to Mr. C. R. Wetzel for his outstanding photography and to Mr. A. L. Orlidge for his wise counsel as our advisor and also for his hard work in making this book possible.

The seniors, the first class to graduate under the new joint school board, regret that their high school days are over, but we feel we are now ready to begin our adult life.

Stonycreek township defeated Salisbury, 53-28, last night on the latter's floor in the opening tussel in the county Class B League. It not only was Salisbury's first game and setback but also their debut in the "B" league. Last season they competed in the "C" division but decided before last night's game to compete in the upper division because of the lack of competition in their class.

Salisbury kept within range during the first half but Coach Herbert Wolfe's Vikings, who entered the game with a 1-1 record, rode roughshod in the second half. Even at the three-quarter mark the home forces were only nine points behind but a 25-point spree in the final stanza turned the nip-and-tuck affair into a rout.

Captain Robert Baltzer sparked the Vikings by swishing the nets with seven field goals and six fouls for 20 points. Gnagey paced the losers with nine tallies.

Stonycreek Is Upset by 3 Points

MEYERSDALE — Meyersdale High School carried three of four peroids in a Somerset County Class B League tussle with Stonycreek Township here last night but gained only a 44-41 victory. The win was the second in league play for the locals while Stonycreek went down to its first loss after a pair of triumphs.

Margins of 13-11 and 8-6 in the first two periods gave the locals a 21-17 halftime command. Stonycreek cut the difference to two points with a 15-13 third round but saw its chances for a third straight win fade as Meyersdale took the finale, 10-9.

Beal and Ross were high scorers for Meyersdale with 15 and 13 points, respectively. Reese and Spangler garnered the honors for the losers with 16 and 11.

The local junior varsity copped a slim 29-27 victory in the preliminary.
